IN NEW PLANEdison Urges Establish-

MAY STORE PRODUCTS

Would Give Tillers Almost Monopolistic Control
Over Prices

Washington, May 19.—Thomas A. Edison, the world's electrical genius, appeared before a secret night session of the senatorial agricultural inquiry committee and recommended establishment by congress of a titanic government warehouse system for solving the nation-wide agricultural depression, it was learned by the International News Service today.

The plan which Edison urged congress to adopt would give American farmers an almost monopolistic control over the price of their products through operation of a "full year" storage provision.

Edison urged passage of the proposed legislation "as soon as possible" in order to give the farmers relief before the next crop is reaped.

The wonder man of the century made a rush visit to the national capital last night and appeared before the committee for two hours in executive session. Edison came to Washington "as a favor to the committee," his secretary informed the International News Service.

The warehouse system, which Edison recommended appealed tremendously to the senators. He was frequently interrupted during the session by his deeply interested auditors for additional details.

Edison proposed that the warehouses would be used as the basis of farm credits under which farmers "could get a fair return on their products." He specifically urged that the farmers be given permission by the government to store their products for a full year "if necessary" in order to secure a fair return.

This suggestion, senators believe, would give the farmers practical price-fixing power on their own products, inasmuch as they could wait for a favorable market to sell. Edison discussed at great length potential legislation to put his plan into effect.

The committee members explained the famous inventor that there were seven bills pending before them, some of which were modeled along the lines laid down in his suggestions. One measure, sponsored by Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas, contained the farmhouse provision, but did not extend the full year storage privilege. Edison was informed his suggestion would be taken under serious consideration in the framing of future legislation.

Although stressing the warehouse credit system as the most advantageous Edison offered two other means of relieving agricultural depression. He approved direct financial aid by the government to the farmers and also suggested the establishment of livestock credits through federal reserve banks. Both of these measures would be in addition to the warehouse credit plan.

Under the latter plan, Edison explained, the farmer would be offered government storage for his cotton and grain crops. The government would then issue certificates of credit against the crops stored in its warehouses. Armed with these certificates the farmer's financial difficulties would be solved through his ability to borrow at any national bank.

MINERS' OFFICIAL
MUST STAND TRIAL

Charlestown, W. Va., May 19.—William Blizard, alleged leader of the miners' army which marched upon Logan county last summer and fought with state police and deputy sheriffs at Blair Mountain, must defend himself against a charge of treason.

Judge Woods so decided in circuit court here today in denying the motion of the defense to dismiss the treason indictment against the youthful miners' leader. The state already has presented the evidence upon which it relies for the conviction of Blizard and hundreds of other miners, and the defense will now begin the presentation of its case.

COUPLE ENTERS MAINE
WOODS AS EXPERIMENT

Boston, Mass., May 19.—Entering the Maine woods naked, on Saturday without food or weapons, Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Sutter announced here today that they will prove that they can live an absolutely primitive life with none of civilization's aids, for period of six weeks.

Sutter, who is 27, and his wife, who is a slight but strong young woman of 23, have picked the wildest part of North Central Maine for their experiment. Their first problem in view of the coldness of the climate, at this time of the year, will be to make themselves clothing from the inner bark of certain trees.

AMERICAN SPENDS
15 YEARS IN JAIL

Charles Smith, an American, who loved "Chicago May," a notorious international thief, was sentenced to life imprisonment in London in 1907, for attempting to kill Eddie Guerin, the only man who ever escaped from Devil's Island. Guerin had stolen the women's love. Through the efforts of the American consul in London, Mr. John M. Savage, and of Lady Astor, Smith has been pardoned and has returned to America to begin life anew on a farm.

Invited Before Lockwood Committee.

New York, May 19.—Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the U. S. Steel corporation; Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel corporation; and Eugene C. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel, the three foremost steel magnates of the country, have been invited to appear before the Lockwood committee according to an official announcement by that body this afternoon.

The committee had hoped to hear steel men this week, but the dinner given at the White House to leading steel manufacturers took the chief men of the industry from New York. It is now announced that the "big three" have been requested to appear next Wednesday or Thursday.

The contention of Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, developed in questions yesterday, is that the Bethlehem-Lackawanna combine and the proposed consolidation of six independent companies constitutes infringement of the anti-trust laws.

ADMINISTRATION SEEKING WAY TO BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONSSeries of White House Dinners Are for Purpose of Penetration of Big Business by Government—Abolition of 12-Hour Day Results.

Washington, May 19.—President Harding and his cabinet advisers have embarked on a systematic campaign to attempt to secure through friendly social intercourse with "big business" the things that would lead to costly litigation and bitter feeling if attempted through the more spectacular and drastic means of legislation and law.

This was the frank explanation advanced by the president's advisers today for the series of White House dinners to industrial magnates and the conference which members of his cabinet are holding in Washington with leaders in various enterprises.

It is a further step, administration spokesmen said, in Mr. Harding's preaching of "the gospel of understanding" to which he referred to often during his campaign for the presidency.

"You might call it a peaceful penetration of big business, by the government," one cabinet officer said.

The president's dinner to forty-one steel magnates at the White House last night, resulting in an informal understanding being reached for the abolition of the 12 hour day in the steel industry was one notable step in the general plan, it was said.

The conference between Secretary of Commerce Hoover and the producing non-union coal operators, resulting in an informal agreement to hold coal prices at their normal levels despite the nation-wide strike was another.

Tomorrow night the third step will be taken at the White House at another dinner. President Harding will entertain a score of leading railroad presidents and directors and to them he will address an appeal for cooperation in a drive to decrease freight rates.

Almost daily now the Interstate Commerce Commission is expected to hand down its long-awaited decision, ordering a general and substantial reduction of rates. That a reduction of rates is imminent is known, but the extent to which they are to be lowered is a carefully guarded secret. It is reliably reported, however, that the cuts are not so drastic as are expected in some quarters.

The president it is understood, will ask the railway executives to cooperate loyally with the government in maintaining the reduced rates and to even go a step further—if the reductions fall short of expectations, it is believed he will ask the railroad heads to voluntarily make such reductions as they can.

High freight rates have been the most consistently advanced cause for the general business "depression." It has been further felt by the president and his advisers that "a restoration of confidence" in the basic industries of the United States is necessary before there can be any return to the "general prosperity" so often referred to.

The basic industries of the United States are steel, transportation and coal. Thus, in a single week the administration has had the leaders of all these three great key industries in Washington for conferences and the conferences have been made the vehicle for remedial suggestions, both in part of business and the government.

That there is a political aspect to the administration's program is not denied. It is realized that one of the chief campaign arguments to be used by the Democrats in this fall's congressional campaign is "bad times." The Democrats will charge that the return to prosperity promised by the Republicans in 1920 has not been accomplished.

Therefore, Republican candidates and spokesmen everywhere are going to beat heavily in coming months on the general theme that the depression is ended and that the famous "general prosperity" is standing on the country's threshold.

President Harding himself sounded this optimistic note in addressing the thousands of business men attending the convention of the Chamber of Commerce here last night.

"Business," he said, "is reviving and we are soon to resume our onward way. Undoubtedly there is more than a mere business revival in sight."

Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary of State Hughes voiced similar sentiments in their addresses to the business leaders here this week.

Republican spokesmen also will use the promised abolition of the 12 hour shift in the steel industry as a campaign argument to labor.

The American Federation of Labor has fought for years to secure the abolition of this long shift. It was one of the announced causes of the famous strike in 1919.

What the labor leaders have failed to accomplish in years of effort President Harding has apparently accomplished in three and one half hours around the hospitable White House dinner table. And this fact will be pointed out to labor audiences by Republican spokesmen as proof that the Republican party is "the friend of labor," and not the foe, as charged by the Democrats.

TEACHERS AIDED IN STATE SERVICE

Columbus, May 19.—Inauguration of a teacher's division in the state free employment service was announced by Governor Davis. Claim is made that operation of this division will effect an annual saving to Ohio teachers of about $250,000.

The new service, it is said, is the first of its kind in the United States. It is intended to aid school officials in obtaining competent teachers and to make it unnecessary for teachers, searching for work to go to private agencies which charge fees ranging from $50 to $100. The division will obtain positions for teachers without charge.

CONVICT'S STORY MAY FREE RADICALS

The names of five gunmen said to be in New York are given in a confession which may save Niccolo Sacco and Bartholomew Vanzetti sentenced to die in the electric chair as glayers of a paymaster and a guard at South Braintree, Mass. The two were killed by a gang of gunmen, one of whom is serving a term in the Charlestown,

Mass., prison, according to the confession, which was made by another man serving a long term in a Southern prison and who declares he had a hand in the killing. The conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti, who were confessed radicals, but who strenuously denied their guilt was followed by bomb outrages against American diplomatic representatives in Europe.

GIGANTIC SCHEME FOR ROBBING MAILS NIPPEDThefts Totalling $1,500,000 Are Revealed Following Arrest of Seven New York Post Office Employees
—Others to Be Apprehended.

New York, May 19.—A gigantic and highly organized scheme for robbery of the mails of liberty bonds, the operation of which is said to have resulted already in thefts totalling $1,500,000 was believed to be revealed here today in the arrest of seven post office employees.

Twenty secret service operatives and postal inspectors are known to have been working on the case, living lives of idleness along the gay white way and working unostentatiously in various capacities in the postal system. Their observations of men within the post office and of free spending up town by men earning small salaries, led to the round up.

The air of secrecy which surrounded the arrests, points to the conclusion that the ramifications of the "system" are not yet wholly revealed, and that other arrests may follow.

The first revelation of the round up came when the men were hooked at the West 30th street station on charges of having acted in concert with others in the robbery of $1,500,000 worth of liberty bonds from the U. S. mails while in transit between New York and Washington, on or about July 18, 1921.

Subsequently, this charge was hidden at police headquarters under an entry charging "violation of a federal law."

It was announced that court proceedings would charge complicity in Bad Blaze.

LOSS IS OVER $100,000

Wind Shift Saves Considerable Property—To Probe Cause.

Newark, O., May 19.—Fire of unknown origin broke out in the business section of Buckeye Lake park at 4 o'clock this morning and spread rapidly, sweeping the entire area for a distance of a quarter of a mile. Fortunately, the wind which was blowing from the west, shifted to the south and saved much property. The loss is conservatively estimated at $100,000, partly covered by insurance. The fire started in the office of the P. Smith and Sons Lake Lumber Company, located near the Ohio Electric depot and this building together with the following are totally destroyed: Brockway Pool room, Nelson Confectionery store and building, shooting gallery, Solinger Barbershop, Edward Kockebach confectionery and ice cream store; Lake Lumber company yard and all contents including several thousand feet of lumber; the skating rink building, half of the figure eight roller coaster. The large building formerly known as the W. D. Harris hotel and now used as the Ohio Electric depot, and the Leonard grocery were partially burned.

A two story frame building being used as a ticket office at the entrance to the figure eight containing four living apartments upstairs was totally destroyed. Charles Ehret, the agent and manager of the figure eight, together with his family, living upstairs, barely escaped with their lives. Three other families also living in the building also had close calls escaping in their night clothes.

The fire was still burning at 9 o'clock, but was under control by the volunteer fire department at the lake. Investigation has been started as to the origin of the fire.

PETITIONS BEING CIRCULATED FOR
NEW AMENDMENTSDebt Limitation and Tax
Measure May Be Voted Upon

Columbus, May 19.—Throughout Ohio, today, petitions are being circulated in an effort to obtain sufficient signatures of voters to insure submission at the November election of two proposed amendments to the state constitution. One proposed amendment provides for debt limitation and the other would authorize the state legislature to retain the present uniform method of taxation or supplant it with a classification system.

Various civic organizations in the cities and rural communities are supporting these proposed amendments which are intended to place Ohio municipalities on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

"These amendments are designed to permit the legislature to adopt a system of taxation which will produce sufficient funds to further the program of education and government and at the same time, equalize the burden and insure against continued increase in tax rates," declared John E. McCrehen, secretary of the allied organizations which are directing the campaign for the proposed amendments.

1924 PAINTED AT BANKERS' MEETINGCountry-Wide Trade, Revival Will Mark Beginning of June, Declares Dr. Warren M. Persons of Harvard, Before Ohio Bankers.

CINCINNATI, May 19.—A picture of prosperity during 1923 and 1924 was painted before 1,000 Ohio bankers attending the thirty-second annual convention of the Ohio Bankers' Association here today by Dr. Warren M. Persons, head of the economics department of Harvard university.

Dr. Persons declared that the beginning of June would be marked by a country-wide revival which would develop in 1923 into an era of prosperity and industrial activity much similar to the business boom experienced by the United States during the world war and immediately after. He pointed out the relationship of production, distribution and consumption of goods, the advances of wholesale prices and the availability of credit which, he said eventually would lead to the era of prosperity he forecasted.

"The present bank statements and money rates prevailing at present indicate that credit is readily obtainable," he asserted. The absorption by investors of a large volume of new securities is another indication of the availability of credit and capital for business expansion. A rapid accumulation of reserves by the federal reserve banks and decline of notes in circulation has manifested itself.

OFFICIALS BELIEVE SHOOTING ENTIRELY ACCIDENTAL FRIDAY

Ollie D. Greene, 26, colored, government vocational student at Wilberforce University, who was arrested Thursday after he had shot his college mate, William Mason, 39, at their home, 917 East Main Street, was released from custody Friday morning by Lieutenant of Police Mangum, on authority from Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson.

Authorities are inclined to believe that the story of Green that the shooting was accidental, which was corroborated in a statement by Mason at the hospital where he underwent an operation in an attempt to save his life Thursday, is authentic, and for that reason Green will not be criminally charged with the shooting.

Although it is practically impossible to say whether Mason will live, his condition was said to be good Friday at the hospital. The .32 calibre steel-jacketed bullet fired from the Colt automatic pistol in the hands of Green, struck Mason on the left side and coursed down into the abdomen, cutting the intestines. Surgeons at the hospital Thursday operated on the injured man, and cut away that part of the intestines injured. Mason rallied from the operation and Thursday afternoon was said to show improvement in his condition continuing to appear favorable Friday morning.

Before he was operated on at the hospital, Mason told surgeons and hospital attendants that his injury was the result of an accident and urged them not to lock up Green. Later he made an official statement of this nature. The story told by Green at the hospital and by Green in his cell at the police headquarters, when he was interviewed by Prosecutor Williamson, coincided. It is said, and led to the authorities' acceptance of the theory of accident.

Green was discharged last Saturday from the hospital at the National Military Home, Dayton. He spent several days in Cincinnati, with his wife, Mrs. Grace Green, and returned to Xenia late Wednesday night. Mason has been making his home with Green at the East Main street address. They arose Thursday morning to go to Wilberforce University, and their conversation veered to pistols. Mason is said to have asked Green how he loaded his automatic. When Green attempted to show him the gun was exploded. Mason was taken to the physician's office by Matt Fowler, fellow student, and later to the hospital. Green was placed under arrest and detained until Friday morning. Green protested that neither had been drinking although officials said there were evidences of corn liquor.

KEEP YOURSELF YOUNG
Don't grow old for lack of effort! It's so easy to keep young! Don't despise, or pretend to despise the woman who spends a little time each day in improving or preserving her good looks.

Preserving one's beauty and youth are as important as anything else in old early, and tired, and be a good one? I'm certain he'd rather have the good comrade than the good housewife.

I wonder whether a man would rather have his wife prettily dressed and admired by his friends, than to have that extra money spent on his table and the management of his home? I'm sure the average man would go without desserts for weeks to let his wife have the becoming hat she wanted.

Of course all this speculation is only in cases where there isn't a great deal of money, where extravagance in one direction means extra economy in another. The woman who is really clever gets a great deal for a small expenditure. In the matter of beauty, at least—exercises cost nothing but a few minutes time, and keep her young—the few essential cosmetics can be afforded by everyone. Time spent on beauty culture is never time wasted.

"I have just finished my second bottle of Tanlac and I have actually gained fourteen pounds," declared L. E. Collins, 673 East Fourth Ave., Columbus, Ohio, engineer on the Pennsylvania.

"A year ago I nearly died from flu and when I did finally get up my entire system was run down. My stomach was in terrible shape and my appetite so poor nothing I ate tasted right. I was so nervous I couldn't get a good night's sleep and was so weak I had no energy and had to force myself to work.

"Tanalac was recommended by a friend and since taking it I don't believe I ever felt better in my life. My appetite is fine, I eat anything, sleep sound and my nerves are steady. I sure am a firm believer in Tanlac from now on."

SUMMER RATHER SHORT THIS YEAR

The birds, who came out early with the shredded wheat berries, were the wise ones this year. "If April showers bring May flowers who's responsible for bringing May winter?"

COUNTY WILL GET $24,000 FOR ROAD WORK FROM STATE

The sum of $24,000 will be available from the State Highway Department this year for the proposed construction of hard surface on the Springfield pike, the county commissioners learned Thursday in a visit to Columbus.

Commissioners Williamson, Perrell and North and Clerk Steinfeld, were in the party that called on state highway heads and made formal application for the money which represents a credit this county has with the state department for road work. Although the credit amounts to $34,000 only $24,000 of this sum is available now it is said, but the rest will be available later in the year.

In order to conform with the amount of money available, plans of the commissioners for the Springfield pike paving will have to be amended slightly, and as a result only two miles of paving will be done at this time, instead of 2.6 miles as originally planned. This program will carry the paving from Xenia city to a point near the junction of the Springfield pike with the Brush road, whereas the original plans called for paving as far as the junction with the Fairfield pike.

With the money on hand, bids for the paving construction will probably be advertised immediately, specifying bids on concrete and bituminous macadam construction. Decision regarding the proposed paving with the same material of the stretch of North Detroit street between the end of the paving and the present corporation line, will probably be reached late Friday afternoon when the City Commission meets in joint session with county commissioners and officials of the Springfield and Xenia traction company in regard to effort, on the part of officials to have the interurban line move its tracks to the center of the street.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

Two most significant and closely related incidents have occurred in current politics: both the Democratic and the Republican state conventions of Maine have resolved to ask the people through a referendum whether they wish to repeal the direct primary law; and the Democratic candidates for Senator, four Representatives in Congress, Governor and Auditor are shown to have been selected a month or two before the primaries at which the voters are supposed to choose them.

The two incidents show that in one part of the country at least there is a general conviction that the great reform is a failure, and they illustrate the failure by concrete examples.

Th wonder is that anyone who was capable of thinking at all should ever have supposed that the direct primary would do away with the evils of the system that it replaced. Bosses control caucuses, then away with the caucus! But the caucus was not abolished. What was abolished was the convention that followed the caucus and that sometimes, though not always, corrected the mistakes of the caucus. Precisely the same voters had the right to take part in a caucus who now go to the polls in a primary. If the bosses outgeneraled them in the one, the bosses can defeat them in the other. All that was changed was the name of the process. It is loose thinking for a man who is voting in a primary to suppose that he is not voting in a caucus.

The convention that we gave up was a possible corrector. At present, if there are several candidates for an office in a district or a state, the chances are that the nominee will have only a minority of the votes in the primary. If the district contains a city or a town that has a larger voting population than the surrounding country, and if that city presents a local candidate, he is almost sure of the nomination, whatever his comparative merits. In the convention that used to follow the local caucuses he would not have been nominated until he had obtained a clear majority of the delegates. In some instances he would not have survived the first ballot. Conventions sometimes took hundreds of ballots before they made a nomination.

There are plenty of other arguments against the direct primary—that a man whose name begins with A stands a better chance of getting votes than one whose name stands farther down the alphabetical list; that a man who will spend money to advertise himself can easily beat one who relies only upon his reputation with his neighbors; that in some states a man may vote in the primary of the party opposed to him and can thus help that party to make a ruinous nomination. The list of objections is a long one. It was to destroy the power of the bosses that the reform was undertaken, and today it is the bosses who most vigorously oppose repeal.

SAME OLD STORY "HE CAME HOME INTOXICATED"— ONLY THIS.

Mrs. Louis A. Wills, of Mays Landing, N. J., was acquitted of a charge of murder before a jury of nine men and three women. She told of how she had shot her husband in self defense. The jury was out 14 minutes.

After her eleven-year-old daughter, Helen, had told how she had seen her mother attacked by her father, a construction engineer, Mrs. Wills told her story: "My husband came home March 17, intoxicated. He went to sleep after dinner and woke about 9:45 and asked me to go to the beach with him. I went, although I had a toothache. If I did not go I knew another woman would. We went to a restaurant. He took several drinks. I took one small one. We got home at 2 a. m. Then he began attacking me. He used the heel of his shoe and beat me on the face and head, cutting my nose and forehead. He said he would kill me. He said he wanted me to get rid of the babe which soon is to be born, but I refused.

"He then ordered me to leave the house, but I pleaded to remain until the following day. I went to another room occupied by the children. He followed me and choked me, and my daughter, Helen, said: 'Don't hurt mamma any more. She is all bleeding.' I should have killed you," he said. "I am going to kill you." Then he threw a pillow at me and told me to put out the light.

"About 15 minutes later I heard him moving. I jumped up and turned on the light and saw him with one leg out of bed, leaning on one arm. I snatched the revolver and shot him. The next moment he said: 'My God you've killed me; now come here and kiss me!' I kissed him many times and then went out for help."

BEING HAPPY ALONE.

Humanity tends to extremes. Some persons love solitude and seek it by preference at all times, turn with petulant irritation from the unmeaning chatter of their fellows, and are never satiated with long wandering in remote, quiet woodlands, where they can enjoy the unfailing, diversified solace of their own exhaustless thought. Others again will never be alone if they can help it, seek to forget thought, to forget their huge, intruding ego, to forget themselves in the busy community of others and prefer any company to none.

Of those two extremes doubtless the latter is the less harmful, even distinctly the more advantageous. It is better to seek your fellow men than to fly them, better for them and, generally speaking, far better for you. In getting rid of your superfluity of self you may benefit others; to be sure, you do not always, but you may. And you are getting rid of something that may be cherished to very doubtful profit. For the love of solitude carries with it great and obvious dangers, the danger of an exaggerated estimate of your own importance, the danger of losing your adaptability, the danger of brooding too much and too long on things, that all of us gain by leaving in shadow.

Yet, in spite of the danger, what a priceless gift it is to be able to be happy alone! How many people there are who have it not, who are uneasy and restless unless they have companionship to entertain and divert them, who find even an hour interminable when it must be passed far from the support of others' voices and the touch of others' hands! What a privilege it is to be able to people solitude with merry or absorbing thoughts, to fill the woods and fields, or your own quiet chamber, with quaint, endless, delightful creatures of the imagination, who have the immense social advantage that they will come when you please and go when you please and not pester you!

After all, we have to see more of ourselves than of anyone else. It is fortunate when we find ourselves good company.

WORK AND LIFE

Someone has given utterance to this thought and I am giving it to you: "work as though you were to live forever—live as though were going to die tomorrow!"

It is only as we find in work something to spur us on, something to feed our minds and souls, that we become worthy to share in the honor and dignity that is inseparable from work.

And it is only as we find in work richness of life that we are able to find happiness at all.

You who work merely for the material advantage that results from work are a very poor worker indeed. Outside my window I note a laborer. He is digging in the soil. He is whistling. I not perspiration on his brow. He does not take one dig and then look over the landscape—beautiful as it is—but he works right on. When the day's work is finished he will go apathy tired to his home.

I am amused at the employee in a good concern who is always wondering whether or not there is to be any future for him.

There is always a bright and substantial future for the worker—no matter where he works—if he keeps the future desires in mind and sets his entire energies to the task of attaining it.

But there can be no slighting of details, no counting of time, no covering up of that which should be done.

Work is life only as life is work. There is to high position and to large accumulation of money heavy responsibility, whereas there is always satisfaction that is bound to accrue from work well done, no matter how menial or seemingly unimportant.

And where is there in all this world anything to compare with the happiness of a worker?

HAVE TO GET UP NIGHTS FOR BLADDER RELIEF?

Try Simple Method This Dayton Man Reports Relieved Him Quickly.

Mr. Wm. D. Ostermeyer, 236 East Second St., says in his own home paper, the Dayton Daily News: "My bladder caused me to get up many times at night and also inconvenienced me as often as every 30 minutes in the day. After taking a few Lithiated Buchu tablets my bladder is perfectly normal. They also relieved a very lame back for me. It gives me much pleasure to tell my friends about these little tablets."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the kidneys and bladder like Epsom Salts do on the bowels. It cleans them out. It is not a patent medicine as the formula is on the package. The tablets cost 2c each. This price makes it possible to place in the formula several high priced drugs, which are useful for relief. Very likely you have never taken anything like this remedy. Try a few doses for backache, scalding, scanty or high colored urine, and frequent desire at night.

You can get Lithiated Buchu, Keller formula at Sayre & Hemphill's and drug stores everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, O.

THE SECRET SORROW.

As Boswell to James Beeswax Jing, my task will soon be closed; he would not smile or dance or sing, as optimists proposed. So men have said he was a grouch because he heaved no smiles, but rose repining from his couch, and groaned in many styles. But ere he left these scenes of strife, he said to me, 'Old scout, my relatives have spoiled my life, and put me down and out. Oh, I have uncles by the score, who ate all I could earn, and I have nieces twelve or more, and I have aunts to burn. My wife has cousins by the ton, and countless nieces, too, and they would eat up all the mon that for my toil I drew. They just dropped in three times a day, when meals were on the board; with gleaming fangs they came my way, on foot or in a ford. And I'd have fired each hungry bore, but wife would not agree; the more that flivvered to our door, the happier was she. I broke my springs and stripped my gears providing tea and toast, and thus through long and weary years I fed a hungry host. And people thought me full of guile because my face was grim; I couldn't dance around and smile, or sing a hoop-la hymn.' He breathed a few despairing pants, then his tired form was still; and forty sons-in-law and aunts cried, "Did he make a will?"

IF KIDNEYS ACHE OR BLADDER'S WEAK

Take Roots and Herbs to Flush Kidneys and Wash Out Irritating Acids

If your kidneys hurt or bladder bothers drink lots of water and remember these weaknesses result from uric acid. It is the duty of the kidneys to remove waste material from the system; if they become overworked and sluggish they fail in their efforts to filter and strain all the waste poisons from your blood. Practically all rheumatism, back ache, dizziness, constipation, sleeplessness and bladder weakness come from clogged kidneys. To have strong, healthy kidneys, capable of easily and normally filtering from our blood 500 grains of Toxins (Poisons), which they should do every 24 hours, you simply must keep them clean and active and the acids neutralized so that your kidney and bladder troubles will be ended. Then you can forget you have a set of kidneys or a bladder. Simply get a bottle of Dr. Carey's PRESCRIPTION NO. 777 (Tablets or Liquid) made from harmless roots, herbs and leaves and take right after eating. You will be delighted with the results it will bring. Sayre & Hemphill and all good druggists can supply you.

BEAVERCREEK

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

The thirty-second annual commencement of the Beaver Creek Township school is a matter of history.

On Sunday, May 11, at 2:30 p. m. Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, delivered a masterful baccalaureate sermon to an attentive audience which packed the K. of P. Hall to its utmost capacity.

Dr. McChesney took for his text "He that saith he abideth in Him, ought himself also to walk, even as He walked."

His usual flow of oratory and logic kept his audience spell bound. This was an occasion long to be remembered by those who had the privilege to attend.

Special music for the afternoon was furnished by the high school chorus in charge of W. R. Sayrs, musical director.

The singing was an inspiration to all and this together with the courteous demeanor of nearly eighty young people of the high school brought forth many complimentary remarks after the close of the exercises.

The class this year consists of eleven young men and twelve young women being the largest class in the history of the school and the largest this year in the County system.

In order to accommodate the friends of the class it became necessary to have the play on two nights. Six of the young men and six of the young women had their friends on one night and the others the next.

On Monday and Tuesday nights the class play "Catching Clara" a delightful college comedy was presented in which every member of the class participated. The play was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience and reflected credit on every member of the class as well as on Miss Dillencourt the English teacher, who trained the young actors.

One of the most delightful features in connection with the play was the wonderful spirit of cooperation on the part of the class, minor parts being so played as to make them important.

The commencement exercises were held on Wednesday night when eleven young men and twelve young women were graduated.

Music for both nights of the play and the commencement was furnished by the Beaver Creek orchestra under the leadership of Mr. W. R. Sayrs and was of the highest type and execution.

A beautiful procession of the members of the class, carrying a chain of the class colors, orange and blue, and the young men wearing a white rose each, while the young women carried bouquets of white roses, was the attraction.

In addition to the class the following were seated on the stage, viz., H. C. Aultman, County Supt.; D. S. Lynn, Assistant County Supt.; Frank P. Sayrs, Principal High School; Miss Letitia Dillencourt, English and Latin teacher; Miss Mary Wilgus, teacher of Mathematics and History; Miss Kathryn Warner, teacher of Home Economics; Fred R. Keeler, Dept. Smith-Hughes Agriculture and Hon. Frank B. Pearson, of Columbus speaker of the evening.

Rev. E. W. Moyer of the Beaver Reformed Church gave the invocation.

Miss Laura Coy delivered the class history which she had most cleverly written in verse of a high type.

Miss Coy has had a number of poems published and has won prizes at different times for her poems.

The Class Prophecy which was of a unique nature and in strikingly beautiful language was given by Louise Treharne, class president.

The Hon. Frank B. Pearson, of Columbus, delivered a magnificent address.

dress on "The Masterful American," Mr. Pearson was introduced by Mr. Sayrs, Principal of the High School. "The Masterful American" is first of all a producer. Mr. Pearson discussed the preacher, the doctor, the teacher, the farmer, the musician as producers.

The second point was that the masterful American forms the habit of mastery—does not give up easily. In the third place he knows how to appreciate real values. He does not believe in a ten dollar hat on a ten cent head.

The address was filled with humor and yet each story or bit of humor pointed a great truth.

Diplomas were presented to the class by Assistant County Supt. D. D. Lynn, who gave a beautiful talk to the class.

The following whose names are given alphabetically won scholarships to colleges: Dorothea Coy, Laura Coy, Hazel Delhamer, Edward Kundert, June Thompson, Louise Treharne. Honorable mention is made of the following whose four years averages are above ninety per cent. Emma Andrew, Elizabeth Brill, Pauline Brown, George Hare, Katherine Jacobs, Charlotte Louis.

Members of the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club, enjoyed a trip through the Yellowstone, the Canadian Rockies, and the Denishawn School of Dancing at Los Angeles, California, with R. Hayes Hamilton, who presented his travelogue at the regular meeting of the club, held at the Chamber of Commerce, Thursday night.

The pictures of the western wonders proved an interesting program, for the social meeting of the club, Mr. Hamilton giving short talks concerning the pictures as they were shown. The camera that Mr. Hamilton used in his lectures is the original machine which was used to cast pictures on the ceiling of hospitals for the benefit of injured soldiers during the war. Mr. Hamilton allowed the patent of the machine to go into the hands of the Red Cross, for use in the hospitals, but has retained the original machine, the first of its kind. A refreshments course was enjoyed at the close of the program, the remainder of the meeting being devoted to routine business of the club.

DR. GRUBE THINKS SLIGHT DANGER OF TYPHOID TROUBLE

The typhoid fever situation in Xenia City has quieted down, according to County Health Commissioner Dr. R. H. Grube, Friday, who said that he did not anticipate an epidemic.

Some of the 15 cases now under surveillance are not believed to be typhoid, Dr. Grube said. About a dozen samples of the city water were sent to Columbus by the Health Commissioner Thursday. A report of the first sample sent by Dr. Grube has not been received from Columbus.

"We consider the matter to have practically blown over," said Dr. Grube, Friday.

LEGISLATIVE AND JUDICIAL BODY OF CHURCH IN SESSION

The National General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States which convened in Des Moines, Iowa, Thursday is the highest legislative body of the church. Rev. William H. Tilford, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Xenia said Thursday explaining the conference.

The assembly numbers about 900 men, half lay and half clerical: who will be in session in Des Moines until May 26.

In accordance with action of General Assembly a year ago a special committee headed by Dr. John Timothy Stone, of Chicago, this year will bring in a report planning to reorganize all the 18 boards and agencies through which the national and international work of the church is done. It is expected that this report will suggest radical reductions in the number of boards. If the report is adopted it will constitute the most marked change in the organization this church has ever had, cutting down the overhead charges to the minimum. The Commissioners from the Dayton Presbytery are: the Rev. M. E. Koonce, of South Charleston, and Rev. Sylvester L. Gear, of Bradford, Ohio. Two laymen also go, Mr. R. S. Finlay, and C. E. Baiter.

Other Commissioners from near by are: C. H. Nicholson, of Washington, C. H. Ohio. Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University and W. M. Jennings, of Columbus, Cincinnati; Revs. W. D. Harrell, D. W. MacMillan, W. F. Patterson, John Glenn.

ILLNESS PROMPTS ACT WHICH TAKES LIFE OF ENGINEER

The body of David Erter, 70, well known traveling engineer for the Buffalo-Springfield Roller Company, was found in a shed on the Troy pike, three miles northwest of Springfield, Thursday. The body was swinging from a rafter when it was discovered by his nephew, Deputy Sheriff Frank Haerr, who had gone to the shed to investigate why an automobile had been there for several days. Erter had tied a cotton rope to a rafter and around his neck and then jumped to his death, authorities say.

Henry Erter, brother of the dead man, said he had been in ill-health for several months and had suffered an attack of influenza last fall, which was followed by nervous prostration.

Mr. Erter was born on a farm on the Urbana pike and was for thirty years connected with the sales force of the Buffalo-Springfield Roller company, with which he was connected until he was taken ill last fall. He is survived by his widow, 28 East Mulberry St., Springfield, three brothers, and one sister.

HONORS CLAIMED BY HORACE ZELL ON GOLF COURSE

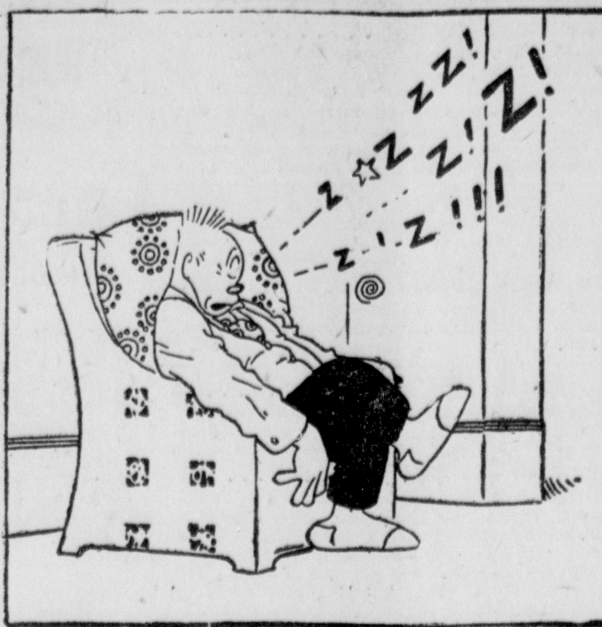

The question before the house is whether T. H. Zell or old Jupe Pluvius won the golf tournament at the Xenia Country Club Thursday.

Followers of the weatherman, who did not get to play in the scheduled tourney, claim that old man rain, took high honors with a clean sweep.

The City Auditor says they are wrong like a cold, hot water bottle. He contends that he should be awarded the prize because he made the best score of the day. And he claims he not only defeated all opponents but he put one over on the weather.

Mr. Zell made his score about six o'clock Thursday morning, in a "try some" with J. L. Almon and A. M. Ogan. By playing early morning golf they managed to beat J. Pluvius by a few laps, and some minutes. Of the three, the City Auditor carried off the honors and claims the handsome paper drinking cup.

"JUST HOW" TO PAINT YOUR FURNITURE

Only the woman who has already started saving money, knows the joy of seeing the figures increase on her savings bank pass-book. To such a woman the idea of buying a new article is always preceded by the thought, "Is there anything I can use instead?"

Next to clothing, furniture represents the strongest temptation for spending money. We do so want, for our bedroom, that $25 willow desk we saw in the store! Oh we simply must have that $15 "night stand" to put beside our bed to hold the rose shaded drop light!

Yet, Reader Friends, we will get a great deal more satisfaction out of a small wooden desk picked up reasonably at auction, or a slender-lined old-fashioned table bought inexpensively at a second-hand store than if we spend $40 that we ought not to spend, on the two new pieces of furniture.

And the best part of it all is, that no matter what color the second hand piece of furniture is, we can paint it to match any other furniture we have! This is how:

To Paint Old Furniture: There is a preparation sold today by hardware stores called "paint remover," which eats off any finished surface to which it is applied. If there are stubborn spots which refuse to come off after applying this "remover," you can get these off by scraping with a sharp blade, or with a piece of glass. The next step is to wash the wood thoroughly with soap and water and let dry.

Steel Wool (this is sold in inexpensive packages at most hardware and grocery stores—for polishing aluminum utensils) will also take off the paint, although it is a little more work to remove varnish and paint with steel wool.

Now that you have the piece of furniture clear of paint, and scrubbed, you may proceed to put on a coat of household paint of the color you desire; let this coat dry thoroughly and then rub over the entire surface with a fine piece of sandpaper.

Apply a second coat of the same colored paint as the first let dry and once more sandpaper the entire surface until it is as smooth as you can make it.

The third, and last coat should be of enamel paint—the same shade which you have been using. Put this enamel paint on as thinly as possible and when it is perfectly dry, rub it down with powdered pumice stone.

This is the way the most reliable furniture companies finish wood. A coat of wax goes on over the pumice-rubbed coat of enamel paint; or, if preferred, you may use varnish instead of wax. Again you can get a soft dull lustre by rubbing with mixed equal parts of turpentine and linseed oil.

FOUR DANCING FEET

BY JANE PHELPS

"We won't try to talk until we get out of this traffic," Tom said as they started off. "I feel like a beginner when I first drive a car in New York. One has to be so careful. Out home one can drive for miles without stopping—sometimes without meeting anyone."

"You drive wonderfully!" Gertie replied, then did not speak again but while Tom watched the traffic, she watched him.

He looks a little older, she thought, and he's handsomer than he was—there's a look in his face he didn't have. She tried to analyze it, but failed. Sometime she would ask him, or perhaps he would tell her things that had happened and she would know from that.

They were going down on Long Island to revisit the place they lunched on their first ride together. Tom had proposed it and Gertie consented gleefully.

After they crossed the 59th Street bridge he commenced to talk. Not connectedly until they got further away, but aside from answering his questions, Gertie said nothing.

"There now! We can talk comfortably," he remarked, "slowing the car. Now, tell me all about yourself. Gertie, what have you been doing all this time?"

Gertie told him of leaving Rosenberg, of her refusal to sign a contract and of how she had bettered herself.

She told him of her new dance and what a hit it had made; that she was practicing a new dance—the butterfly dance. He interrupted her:

"We'll go to the theater. Gertie There's a musical comedy on in which two professional dancers take part. It may give you ideas."

"That will be lovely!" she exclaimed, then her face dropped. How could she go to the theater in her old clothes?—go with him?

"Go on, tell me more of yourself," She told of her reading, her attempts at improving herself, urged on by his interest and an occasional question.

"At first I got awfully discouraged—I couldn't seem to remember. But it's easier now, and I don't have so much trouble finding the meanings of words, and using them right."

"You have improved wonderfully, Gertie. You express yourself so much better. Not that you ever lacked—but we can all improve ourselves if we try. Now tell me about your beaux—don't blush. I know a girl as pretty as you are must be popular."

Suddenly the day seemed dull and dreary. He had asked her about her beaux in a careless way. Of course it was nothing to him—how many she had, or if she was fond of any of them. Her pride came to her rescue.

"I don't have much time for beaux. I'm too busy!"

"I'll bet you have all the opportu-ity—if you don't have the time. Don't the fellows who come into the cafe try to get acquainted with you?"

"Oh, sometimes," she shrugged, "but it don't—doesn't do them any good. I told Fagin, the boss that I would not stay if I had to be bothered with them."

"He keeps you just the same."

"Yes, I make money for him. He said so."

Was she mistaken or did Tom look at her shabby dress? At the thought she blushed and looked uncomfortable. Then hurriedly she went on talking—not about herself, but about Jennie, and Tim. She told how well Jennie was doing in school of how Tim's accident happened.

"He's been so good; such a brave little chap," she said warming to her subject. "It's awfully hard for a boy so active to lie still, and he frets because he isn't helping mother. He was like that when he was tiny. He wanted to do things to help."

"He'll soon be out! A broken leg isn't anything if it is handled right. I broke mine twice when I was a kid. I hope you had a good surgeon."

"Indeed we did, and he says Tim won't even limp."

"That's great! must help you take care of him. I'll have a talk with the doctor and if he doesn't object Tim and I will have some good times. He's so bright I enjoy hearing him talk."
